Biblical scholars dispute the authorship of this particular Psalm, and some say the author is unknown, and other claim David as its author. I personally believe that David wrote it, regardless of what others are using as their criteria for another author. If you read this Psalm through several times, you will see in it, the hand of someone who has known and lived through all that he is writing about. The author has internalized all of this, and has agonized all of this in his own life. This is not just a lovely Psalm of lovely words and lovely phrases, but it is instead a Psalm of deep thought and deep conviction. It is a Psalm that could not have been written much like some of our modern writers sit down to pen some lines that will make a best seller.

But let us look at it, and analyse it to see what is being said. In the first 6 verses, (read them) we see that David has drawn the conclusion that God is indeed omniscient, or in other words that he knows everything that is going on. That God understands. In today's word there is a very definite contrast between this Psalm and our thinking. Much is made today of man and his search for God. We keep saying that man is looking for God and seeking Him everywhere. But little or nothing is said of the search of God for us, and for His knowledge of who and what we are.

One of the most often heard complaints of people today, is that they are misunderstood. Our young people tell us, "You just don't understand." We live, we act, we speak in all sincerity, only to learn that our motives and our desires have been misinterpreted and we are misquoted. Walter Eccles wrote a poem about this very thing, which he entitled, "Not Understood."

The plea which Mr. Eccles makes in the last lines of this poem are echoed by David, but with the assurance that God does see all, and know all about us, even if we are misunderstood by men.
(read 7-12)

In the next few verses we see the questioning of David as he inquires whether he is ever able to be out of sight of God. No matter where he goes God is there, that even in the depths of hell, or the uttermost parts of the sea, God is present. ~~This~~ This can be a comforting thought as well as a disturbing one.

(Illustration of Big-Godder, Barnhouse pg 132)

This is the kind of man David was, he was a Big-Godder. God was everywhere, He knew everything about everyone, He could not be escaped from. This is the kind of God we must have, if we are to really, love and worship Him in faith and truth.

read verse 13-18,

Here David acknowledges that God was aware of him when he was just a small micro-organism that was being joined to another micro-organism within the body of his mother. This is a theory that makes one pause to truly comprehend the love of God. Even before we were anything, God knew of us. How wonderful this is, and yet could we expect anything less from God? In His infinite love and wisdom He planned for us, He wanted us to come forth and to be a part of His creation. Yet, how often do we live like this? Do we not instead grumble and moan and sometimes even question, "Why was I ever born? Why am I here? What purpose is life for me, and how can I go on?" Our ~~perpetual~~ questioning should cease, and we should instead begin to praise God for all of His works, and we should echo the words of David, (vss 17,18) "How precious also are thy thoughts unto me O God! How great is the sum of them! If I should count them, they are more in number than the sand; when I awake, I am still with thee."

But then David remembers that he is still among those who do not acknowledge God and he is concerned as to what will happen to these people. He wants the comfort and the assurance that the living of the ~~good~~ Godly life is not in vain, and so he speaks these thoughts out loud by stating what he believes God will do.

(verses 19-22)

Now we must remember that this is the Old Testament and Christ had not spoken to the hearts of the Old Testament people. When Christ came He gave the new commandments and a part of these was to love your enemies. He told his followers to do good to those who spitefully use you, and to seek to love all men, whether good or evil. But one thing He did not tell us to do, and that was to love Sin. He said to love the sinner, but not to love the Sin. In essence this is a part of what David is saying in these verses. He is saying that he is radically disturbed by those who are going against the will of God, and he cannot stand this type of living and he is counting these people as enemies of God. Which is what they were. David is showing forth righteous indignation which is proper and just. Jesus showed forth this type of thinking when he cast out those who were buying and selling in the Temple. But the danger in righteous indignation is that I was glad when they said to me, "Let us go to the house of the Lord!" O Come let us worship and bow m, let us kneel before the Lord, our Maker!

PERSONAL TESTIMONY

Ralph C. Link

I am the youngest of five children. I was born just prior to the onset of the Depression. Our family was very poor. My father was an alcoholic and my mother was a very religious person who was searching for the Lord. During my childhood she did her best to teach me the things of the Lord. Later in life she came to a personal relationship with Him.

I grew up in the Evangelical and Reformed Church where salvation by grace alone was not preached nor taught. I knew all about Jesus, what He did, how He lived, His miracles, His death and resurrection, but I didn't know Him personally.

My life had many ups and downs and all the while I was attending church and striving with my good works to please God. At a very low point in my life when we were deeply in debt and my wife and three children were all ill, I came to the crossroads. I watched a Billy Graham Crusade on television from some distant city and the message he preached seemed to be directed right at me. I wrestled with making that commitment to Christ, but didn't. The next afternoon and evening at work on the 4 to 12 shift I came to the conclusion that I needed to make that commitment to Christ. It seemed like there was no other choice if life was to have any meaning. That night when I came home from work at 1:00 A.M., I laid face down on the living room floor and told God that I couldn't live my life in my own strength and I accepted the gift of salvation from my Savior Jesus Christ. My life has never been the same.

Through several meaningful circumstances I was called by God to serve Him in the Christian Ministry and to help spread that wonderful message of salvation through the shed blood of Jesus Christ. What a wonderful and rewarding time it has been and I give Him all the praise for my salvation and the opportunity to serve Him.

STATEMENT OF FAITH

Ralph C. Link

I believe the Bible, both the Old and New Testaments to be the inspired inerrant Word of God. I believe the Bible is the complete revelation of His will for the salvation of men and it is the final authority for the Christian faith and life.

I believe in one God, who is eternally existent in three persons: Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

I believe in the Deity of the Lord Jesus Christ that He is true God and true man. I believe that He was born of the Virgin Mary, that He lived in sinless life, that He performed the miracles recorded in Scripture, that He died on the cross as a sacrifice for our sins, that He bodily arose from the dead, that He ascended on high where He is at the right hand of Almighty God as our intercessor.

I believe in the Holy Spirit and that He comes and indwells each believer at the time of conversion. I believe that He lives in each believer to lead, to instruct, and to convict so that a believer may live a more godly life.

I believe that through the shed blood of Jesus Christ and through His resurrection, this is the only ground for justification and salvation for all who receive Him. A Lord and Savior and to such as receive Him, they are born of the Holy Spirit and become children of God.

I believe water baptism and the Lord's Supper are ordinances of the Church but are not means of salvation.

I believe in the personal and premillennial and imminent coming of the Lord Jesus Christ.

I believe in the resurrection of the dead, for the believer to resurrection of life and joy with the Lord, for the unbeliever to resurrection of judgement and everlasting punishment.
